

What are the white crystals on my FermProbe?

The white crystals you may find on your electrode are formed by the potassium chloride (KCl) in the electrode storage solution. The crystals will not affect the electrode's performance. Rinse the electrode with DI water and proceed as usual.

The contents of this publication are presented for information purposes only, and while every effort has been made to ensure their accuracy, they are not to be construed as warranties or guarantees, express or implied, regarding products or services described herein or in their use or applicability. All sales are governed by our terms and conditions, which are available on request. We reserve the right to modify or improve the design or specification of such products at any time.

© 2022 Broadley-James Corporation. All rights reserved. Visit www.broadley-james.com/trademarks for trademark information.

TMP-BF-102101